

PERMANENT REGISTRATION IS STARTED IN CITY

SPEED WORK RELIEF

Registration In New Castle Starts Slowly

No Early Rush On Part Of Citizens To Be Enrolled
Today

EXPECT GREATER RESPONSE LATER

Permanent Registration Not As Slow A Process As Forecasted

Following the old New Castle custom of waiting until the last minute to get registered the registrars of the various precincts had a comparatively easy time today at least until noon. The registrations were light and the probabilities are that by closing time tonight the percentage of those registered who can will be small.

There was one advantage in the light registration today and that was that the registrars had time to familiarize themselves with the new forms. One boy was laid in the process of registering and that was the story that it would take anywhere from seven to twelve minutes to register each voter.

In some precincts it is found that it does not take as much time as was expected to register voters while in others it is rather an extended process. In one precinct, today some registrations were accomplished in less than two minutes.
There is nothing unduly complicated about registration in the permanent registration forms. There are the usual questions asked and practically the only difference is that persons who were naturalized or whose husbands or fathers were naturalized have to show the papers.

It is not necessary for the registrars to read the oath to the voter.
The voter can be handed a copy of the oath and read it for himself which saves the registrars time.
This was done in the sixth of the second which may account for the speed and efficiency of the board in getting voters on record.

Two other days will be provided for registration, the 18th of this month and the 27th. Voters will

Shark Bites Fisherman

(International News Service)
LAGUNA BEACH, Cal., Aug. 8.—
A shark bit the seat out of Arthur Bennett's pants today.

Bennett, unfortunately, was in the pants at the time, and, as a result, had to see a doctor.
He and a companion, Arthur Perkins, hooked the shark—they thought it was a big albino—while fishing off Dana Point, near this artist colony town.

They landed it after a terrific battle. Even out of the water the shark waded a savage fight for its life, sinking its teeth into Bennett as the two men were trying to club it to death.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Pa New has received another inquiry as to whether or not the prominent light visible early in the evening in the western sky "is a light from a balloon suspended above the city of Detroit." As has been stated before the light is not a balloon suspended light, but is from one of the planets.

NOT SO CHEERFUL

Helen Jacobs, arriving in New York from England, didn't display the usual radiant smile of the American miss returning from presentation at Queen Mary's court.
The reason, possibly, was that she was also presented at tennis court to "Queen Helen" and is facing another presentation to her at Forest Hills. Central Press.

Two Children Are Found Dead In Sewickley

Boy Of 13 And Sister, 11
Years Of Age, Are Shot
To Death

DISCOVERY IS MADE AT NOON

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Aug. 8.—A 13-year-old boy and his 11-year-old sister, children of an old Sewickley family, were found shot to death today in their home at Sewickley.

They were Robert and Betty Ague.

They were found, according to Chief of Police Roy Barclay of Sewickley, when their father, Fred H. Ague, came home for lunch from his office in Sewickley.

The children lay in the kitchen,
both shot through the head.
A hasty examination by Chief Barclay led him to the theory that the boy had shot his sister accidentally and killed himself in remorse.

This theory was borne out, he

Ultimatum Is Answered

Shipbuilding Company
Makes Reply To Navy
Demands At Noon

REPORT REPLY
IS CONDITIONAL

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—The New York Shipbuilding Company
today replied just within the deadline to the navy department's ultimatum, expiring at noon, that it accepts the government proposal to refer the Camden shipyard labor dispute to a board of arbitration.
The navy department declined to disclose the nature of the reply, pending a study of it.

However, the reply was understood to be a conditional one and the shipyard company was described as "hedging" on the government's proposal.

SENATOR COUZENS
IS RECOVERING

(International News Service)
ROCHESTER, Minn., Aug. 8.—
Senator James Couzens of Michigan was reported recovering rapidly today following a minor operation at the Mayo Clinic here yesterday.
It was clear infection which had developed following a bladder operation a month ago. A similar lancing was necessary last week. Attending physicians said this morning that he will be able to leave within ten days.

Rhode Island Upset Still Reverberating In National Capital

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff
Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—The shot fired in Rhode Island against the new deal continued to reverberate in the capital today with the Republicans jubilant and encouraged as they have not been since '32, and the Democrats somewhat concerned but not deeply apprehensive.

The loss of one seat in congress is not in itself important to the new dealers, and the gain of one seat will be of little help to the Republicans. But the reasons underlying this Democratic defeat in a district they carried by 21,000 votes only 10 months ago are highly important to both parties.

"Indicate Trend?"

The strategists of both parties were asking the same question:
"Does it indicate a trend?" "Yes," claimed the Republicans. "No," said the Democrats.
The most disturbing feature of the situation to the Democrats was the magnitude of the turn-over. Judge Charles P. Risk, Republican, campaigning on a platform of four-square

Great Britain May Send Sharp Protest To Rome

Anti-British Onslaught Of Italian Press Cause
Of Rupture

NO REPLY FROM FIRST MESSAGE

Mussolini Gives No Reply To Representations Recently Made

By H. K. REYNOLDS
International News Service Staff
Correspondent.

LONDON, Aug. 8.—A sharp
note, protesting still more vigorously against the anti-British onslaught of the Italian press, will be sent to Rome unless President Benito Mussolini soon gives a satisfactory reply to the strong representations voiced two weeks ago to the Italian ambassador here, it was learned today.

Britain may even consider an "unofficial" economic and financial boycott of Italy, it was said in some quarters.

Relations Impaired.
Italo-British relations are being seriously impaired by accusations in Italy, British cabinet ministers feel.
One charge brought in the Italian press is that Britain herself desires a protectorate over Abyssinia.

It was believed by some observers that the Italian press campaign was aimed to create trouble in British Somalia or other African territories near Abyssinia under British control.

One reason Premier Mussolini has

Seek Compromise On "Death Clause"

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—House and Senate members seeking compromise on the pending utility holding company bill gathered again today, and hoped to smooth out controversy on the drastic "death clause."

Both Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Senate Democratic leader, and Senator Wheeler (D), Montana, and co-author of the holding company bill, predicted there would be some utility legislation at the present session of Congress. They would make no predictions as to the form of the compromise.

Must Do Speedy Work On Task Of Re-Writing State Constitution

HARRISBURG, Aug. 8.—The task of rewriting Pennsylvania's 61-year-old constitution in three and one-half months today was placed before Gov. George H. Earle's civilian advisory committee on constitutional revision which meets here August 17.
Determined to speed completion of his No. 1 objective, the executive summoned the committee of 75, representing every cross-section of thought in the state, to meet here

JUNEAU, Alas., Aug. 8.—Well, that was some trip, the thousand-mile hop from Seattle Jun-

Ketchikan for lunch, but mist and rain and Wiley just breezed through, never over 100 feet off the water.

And talk about navigating—there are millions of channels

look alike (to me) but this old

Nothing that I have ever seen

Floods In Ohio Slowly Recede; Fear Pestilence

Only Two Deaths Are Recorded As Directly Due To Floods

RED CROSS WILL AID FLOOD AREAS

Temporary Homes Are Provided For Many Forced Out By Water

(International News Service)

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 8.—
With flood waters in eastern Ohio counties believed to have reached their crest and at the moment already receding slowly in a few counties, the gravest threat today from the worst inundation since 1913 was the threat of pestilence.

Notwithstanding the undeniable danger of typhoid and other disease due to pollution of streams and sources of city water supplies, state health authorities here felt the threat in the Great Muskingum valley and the Ohio river fringe would be overcome.

Conceding the seriousness of the situation, they prepared to take adequate steps at once to cope with it and did not entertain even a semblance of alarm.

Only Two Deaths
An accurate check-up by International News Service failed to disclose more than two deaths attributable legitimately to the flood, which sent residents scurrying from their homes in the lowlands of 12 rich agricultural counties and did incalculable damage to crops, highways and bridges.

Rehabilitation of the flood victims will be directed by the American Red Cross, but state relief headquarters here despatched orders to every local director in the affected area, rigidly instructing them to co-operate fully in providing temporary homes and food.

In every county in the flood district, vacant store buildings were thrown open as havens for flood-ravaged families and mattresses were provided by the relief administration.

There has been no request to the national guard for aid as yet, but the headquarters staff gave assurance if the guard is needed it will respond with every resource at its command.

Uncle Sam Will Not Help Finance European Wars

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—The government has taken a step to prevent Italy from utilizing the benefits of any American governmental credit to help wage is threatened war against Ethiopia.

This was learned today with announcement by Wayne C. Taylor, vice president of the federal export bank, that the bank has decided not to consider any applications for credit to finance the shipment of American goods to Italy.

"In view of the present unsettled condition in Italy, the bank is not considering any applications for credit involving that country," Taylor said.

This move represented one of the most far reaching steps taken by the American government since the world war to prevent a repetition of America's governmental credit being used to help finance European wars.

suit filed by Miss Minnie Bahr, above, of Cleveland. Miss Bahr declared in her petition that she and Joe agreed to be married in October, 1932, and at that time and for some time afterward he "made violent protestations of allegedly undying love". Upon learning Vosmik would not

Noted Italians Lost On Flight

Minister Of Public Works

WERE ON TRIP

(International News Service)
ROME, Aug. 8.—Possibly the first persons of high position to become victims of Italy's quarrel with Abyssinia, Luigi Razza, Italian minister of public works, and Baron Raiairplane flight from Italy to East Africa.

The pair, who left Italy yesterday afternoon on a flight to Massawa, capital of the Italian colony of

Unidentified Man Is Struck By Auto

In Hospital In Serious Condition
From Atlantic Avenue
Accident

An unidentified colored man is in a critical condition in the New Castle hospital, having been struck in Atlantic avenue at 9:30 p. m.
last night by an automobile operated by Andrew Mazur, 1012 Wildier avenue. The accident occurred half way between Oakland and West Washington street.

According to Mazur's report to city police, he was driving toward the city and the colored man was walking on the cement. Mazur added that he did not see the man until his car hit him.

Mazur stopped his car and at that minute a cruiser car containing Detective Thomas Lynch and Operator Ray Shwalter which was patrolling the section arrived and took the victim to the hospital.

His condition is such that hospital attendants fear he may not survive.
There was nothing on or in his clothing to establish his identity. In a pocket were found almost two dozen dice.

Expect To Use Old Post Office

Application Is Made For Permission To Use Building For W. P. A.

LARGE STAFF TO OCCUPY BUILDING

Formal application for the use of the old post office building at North and Mercer streets as a district headquarters for district 14, Works Progress Administration, is being made today by J. Vale Downie, director of the district. The application must be approved by Edward N. Jones, state director of the WPA, and James A. Farley, postmaster-general.

Since the appointment of Mr.
Downie as director and Joseph T.
Beltz as assistant director of district
14, they have been surveying the city for a place large enough to accommodate the headquarters staff of the WPA. It was apparent immediately that the present relief building was not large enough to accommodate both the works and the relief agencies.

Large Staff.

The reason for the necessity for large headquarters is the fact that the district staff will be housed in the building. This will include the director, the assistant director, chief engineer, draftsmen, financial director, white collar director and all the clerical and supervisory help they will need.

Approximately 15,000 square feet will be needed although this can be cut somewhat, it is said. The entire relief building has less than 18,000

PARIS, Aug. 8.—The strike called there to the Panama Canal Zone.

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—
"The president wants 3-5,000,000 people from the relief rolls put to work by November 1. We are going to do it."

This was the declaration today of Harry L. Hopkins, works progress administrator, as he went to the White House for a conference with the President, Frank C. Walker, head of the division of applications and information, of the 4,000-000,000 works relief program, and Public Works Administrator Harold
L. Ickes.

Two States Near Goal
"We are going to have the works program in full operation in at least two states by early September," Hopkins said. "This means that all of the employables on relief will begin work in those states; the unemployables have or will be turned back to states and the local communities and direct relief, as far as the federal emergency relief administration is concerned, will be ended."

Hopkins said that seven or eight other states will have their programs "in full drive" by the end of September.
"We are working day and night—
we have from 125 to 200 of our staff working every night—to get this program going," Hopkins said. "I can't tell you just what states now

(International News Service)

JUNEAU, Alaska, Aug. 8.—Wiley Post, round-the-world flier, and Will Rogers, famous humorist, were the guests of Alaska's governor John W. Traylor today.

The noted airman and his film comedian passenger arrived here yesterday afternoon after an eight hour non-stop 1,000 mile flight from Seattle in Post's new red and silver Lockheed monoplane.

Post plans to continue to Siberia, via Nome, thence to Moscow. Post indicated he would not take off before late today or perhaps not until tomorrow.
It was believed that Rogers would remain at the Alaskan capital here, although neither of the famous pair would reveal their plans.

The last half of the 1,000-mile flight was shrouded by a 400-foot ceiling. It was raining when Post set down his plane.

FLOOD HITS THREE COUNTIES

Much Damage In State District

Washington, Greene And Fayette Counties In Path Of Flood

WATERS RECEDING; ONE DEATH OCCURS

(International News Service) CHARLESTON, Pa., Aug. 8.—Flood waters receded today after spreading a wave of destruction and damage over Washington, Greene and Fayette counties and taking the life of a man.

J. O. Brown, 32, an unemployed miner, was drowned in the flood-swollen waters of Dunlap's creek at Orient, Fayette county, when he went for a swim.

More than 200 families were driven from their homes by the high waters along Pike run in Daisytown, Washington county. They were able to return later to clean their homes of mud and debris. Three of the miner's houses were damaged beyond repair.

House Washed Away

A house was washed from its foundations at Walkertown, also on Pike run. Many houses were flooded.

High waters marooned a coal train and delayed interurban service between Uniontown and Brownsville. Many buildings were damaged or carried away from their foundations as the flood waters raged through the valley. After flooding outlying sections at Uniontown and necessitating the rescue of several families, Redstone creek and Coal Lick run soon returned to their banks.

they do not meet until December 1. This committee, by going to work now, can have three and one-half months of the job completed by the time the convention meets.

The administration hopes that this procedure will make possible completion of the formal work of revision in time to submit the new constitution to the electorate for ratification or rejection at the 1936 spring primary. The special session of the legislature which must be called next spring then could enact social laws and revise taxation measures which Governor Earle hopes will become possible under the new constitution.

Expected To Organize August 17.

The advisory committee, consisting of judges, prominent constitutional attorneys, university professors and administrators, bankers, industrialists, publishers and civic leaders, is expected to organize and split up into committees when it meets here August 17.

It is expected that about eight or ten committees will be formed from the committee membership. Each committee will be assigned one phase of the constitution, such as the sections dealing with the legislature, judiciary, executive, elections, bill of rights and social provisions to study and redraft in proposed form for a new constitution.

The entire committee may hold but one meeting before the primary election, September 17, at which a formal constitutional convention, if the referendum is favorable, it is expected the advisory committee will meet in full session again before December 1 and ratify a proposed new basic law.

The committee's work, while it is unofficial and not binding upon the convention, is expected to assist greatly in lightening the burdens on the elected delegates. This will be true, if for no other reason, because the advisory committee will have had three months to work before the convention meets, it was pointed out. In addition, many of the advisory committee members may be delegates to the convention.

If the referendum is favorable, voters will pick 70 delegates at the November election to meet in convention on December 1. One delegate will be named from each senatorial district and 20 from the state at large, no more than 10 of whom shall come from any one party.

RESCUE PAIR AT YOSEMITE

afternoon as they attempted to descend the mountain of granite by a short cut.

They summoned aid by lighting a fire. A rescue party of rangers, including Roderick Chisholm, companion of Father Bernard Hubbard, "The Glacier Priest," reached the trapped hikers early yesterday morning and lowered them to the floor of the valley by rope.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Lorimer, parents of the girl, a graduate of Smith College and formerly secretary of the National Council for Prevention of War, were among the hundreds of vacationists who witnessed the thrilling rescue.

Tate's wife was also among the onlookers who shouted encouragement to the stranded pair after they had shouted "we don't believe we can hold on until morning."

Miss Lorimer was not seriously injured. She wore hiking shorts and her legs were severely scratched by shrubbery.

NOTED ITALIANS LOST IN FLIGHT

Ethiopian explorations and the first white man ever to penetrate many of its wilder areas, was at the controls of the plane.

Valuable Men

Eritrea borders on Abyssinia, and it was believed, although not officially admitted, that the pair were to aid in Italy's preparations for war with Abyssinia. As a public works expert, Razza presumably was sent down to supervise this phase of preparations, while few men in Italy could give better advance regarding Abyssinia itself than Baron Franchetti.

Razza is one of the few full ministers of the Italian government, since Premier Mussolini himself holds most of the cabinet portfolios.

GREAT BRITAIN MAY SEND SHARP PROTEST TO ROME

not yet replied to the representations made to Ambassador Dino Grandi, it was suggested, is that Britain refused to give Mussolini a "free hand" in Abyssinia in return for British control of Lake Tsana in Abyssinia, one of the sources of the Blue Nile.

Britain is said to be sounding out officials of her banking houses and British financial agents throughout the world on possible private measures to prevent war in Abyssinia. Financialers in London have already received coldly Italian feelers for a British loan.

GOLD CLAUSE

RESOLUTION IS PASSED IN SENATE

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—A gold clause resolution barring suits against the government in connection with dollar devaluation after six months, was passed by the senate today.

As passed the measure represented a sharp departure from the form requested specifically by President Roosevelt.

The vote was 54 to 24.

Runaway Excites Oil City People

First Occurrence In Many Years Moves Republican To Reflect On Saying

(International News Service)

OIL CITY, Pa., Aug. 8.—Republican County Chairman W. K. Borland today was moved to admit there might be a great deal of truth in President Roosevelt's assertion—in effect that the country was returning to the "horse and buggy days."

"President Roosevelt is right," Borland commented, but referring to the runaway dash of a team of horses owned by the Borland Lumber Company. There was no damage caused, but the first runaway here in many years resulted in considerable excitement.

opposition to the new deal. He won 13,000 votes. Last November the Democrats won the district by 21,000. This means a short space of ten months in a total vote little more than 80,000, which is a tremendous switch.

Only Solace For Dems.

About the only solace the Democrats could get from the figures was that the Republican vote on Tuesday which elected Risk was approximately the same as the Republican vote shrunk amazingly, approximately one-third. The Democrats would like to know what became of that 33-1-3 per cent of their vote, why a third of their voters stayed away from the polls. They haven't found the answer yet.

After a great deal of "analyzing," the Democrats are now inclined to attribute the surprising loss to two principal factors: (1) Disaffection in the state organization, Rhode Island has always been a battleground between the Al Smith Democrats, and the anti-Smith Democrats; and (2) New England's hostility to the AAA processing taxes, which have operated to increase the cost of living in the industrial centers, and caused some textile mills to close down, thus diminishing income against rising living costs.

New England Dissatisfied.

Industrial New England feels that it is paying the processing taxes that Washington sends into the pockets of the farmers in the south and west. The New England states feel, according to representative New Englanders of both parties, that for them it is all going out and nothing coming in, so far as the AAA is concerned.

Both Senator Peter Gerry, Democrat of Rhode Island, and Senator David I. Walsh, Democrat of Massachusetts, concurred in this view. Gerry added that there were other factors, in his opinion. Among them he mentioned the influx of cheap Japanese manufactured goods; the administration's reciprocal tariff policies; the fear of business large and small of the new tax program, and the administration's war on the utility interests.

Result Is Important.

Whatever the causes, the result in "Little Rhody" will be to energize the machinery of both parties for the battle in 1936. Until Tuesday, the Republicans were dispirited and inclined to view 1936 as hopeless. Until Tuesday, the Democrats were complacent and confident. They hadn't lost a round since 1932. But it's a different story now. They are beginning to view 1936 with a different light.

While President Roosevelt smiled off the result with the observation he hadn't known there was an election in Rhode Island until he read it in the newspapers, this new deal set-back has made him all the more eager to get into the political arena himself. He is anxious for congress to wind up and go home, so he can make his long-contemplated swing across the country to the west coast. He will be out of Washington a week after congress quits.

Strangely enough, the Rhode Island upset may have the effect of accelerating the adjournment. With an upset like this coming along so unexpectedly, members are more anxious than ever to get home and see how their own fences have been standing up since they have been tied up here in this long and arduous session.

said, by powder burns on the wound on the boy's head.

In Exclusive Section

Deputy Coroner Herbert F. Allen said a .38-caliber revolver owned by the father was found near the children.

The home is located in an exclusive section of Sewickley, and the family is well known there.

The little girl, Barclay said, apparently was washing dishes when she was shot down.

Mrs. Ague, her mother, was in Etina, nursing her father-in-law, who is ill. She was summoned immediately.

Barclay said the boy apparently died several hours after his sister. The children were left alone in the house today because of the illness of the father-in-law, which required the mother's attendance at his bedside.

"Stranded—with Kay Francis," what ten books would you select to take along in the event anything like that happened?

Will Collect From Mitchell

United States Board Of Tax Appeals Paves Way To Collect Over Million

BANKER FREED OF CRIMINAL CHARGES

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—In a sweeping opinion that allowed but one concession, the United States board of tax appeals today paved the way for the government to collect against Charles E. Mitchell, New York banker, for "fraudulent" income tax returns in 1929 and 1930. Mitchell earlier won acquittal on criminal charges from a federal jury in New York.

The court action, the board held, will not protect Mitchell from a levy of 50 per cent penalty tax, which will exceed $1,000,000. The exact amount will be determined by the board. It will approximate 95 per cent of a total assessment of $1,275,644.52.

The only point in Mitchell's favor was the admission by the board that Mitchell's claim of deductible losses upon a sale of 8,500 shares of Anaconda Copper stock in December 1930 was valid.

Otherwise the board held that Mitchell's claim of losses on a "sale" of stock to his wife was false, that his failure to report as income a bonus of $666,666.67 from the management fund of the National City Co. was "fraudulent," that his returns for 1929 and 1930 were "fraudulent" that under the revenue act he was liable for criminal prosecution for felony; but that his acquittal in court on this charge did not save him from other penalties of extra tax.

be wise to get registered as early as possible however for the registration is bound to be heavy and the nearer to the last hour of the last day the more the rush will be.

Thomas Edmunds, chief clerk for the registration board, spent the day visiting the different precincts, and giving assistance wherever he found it necessary.

Oath Administering In Groups

One of the early questions to arise was whether or not the oath could be administered to more than one person at a time. In some of the south side districts, the registrars were administering it individually, and this required considerable time.

County Commissioner Elmer Conner secured an opinion from Attorney William McIlwhee, Jr., solicitor for the Board of County Commissioners, to the effect that the oath could be administered to several persons at one time, provided it had been read to them or they had read it. When this word was passed around word of registering was greatly facilitated.

Considerable delay and difficulties were experienced over naturalization papers. Quite a number were tried to register had lost or mislaid their papers. They went to the prothonotary's office to make out applications for new duplicates.

One man who said he had voted for over forty years because of the fact that his father had been naturalized, reported to the prothonotary's office that his father's papers had been lost and he did not know in what court he had been naturalized. He was anxious to register and will endeavor to trace back the papers.

The time required to register varied, according to the abilities of the registrars. County Commissioner F. McIlwhee stated that he had gone to his voting precinct with four persons and that time consumed in registering the four was 20 minutes.

HOPKINS SAYS NEW GOAL SET AS NOVEMBER 1

will be taken off relief in September, but in the four states that I have just visited the program is going ahead in good form."

Hopkins has just returned from a tour of the Middle West that carried him into Illinois, Iowa, Michigan and Indiana.

He said that "there is still ample time" to determine whether projects submitted are worth while, so that if not found worthy they can be rejected and new projects called for.

"We are going to take a lot of heat in the next three or four weeks while the program is developing," Hopkins said. "The people want to work and it is taking time to work out jobs for them on projects that are really worthwhile but the program is now getting under way, and by this September will be in full swing. Then the people will have what they want—jobs."

"That is what the president wants them to have. He told us he wanted 3,500,000 people at work by November 1, and we are going to have them at work."

In the face of Hopkins' optimism, the more accurate figures available on the works relief program shows only approximately 50,000 persons have been taken off the relief rolls and put to work under the $4,000,000 program aside from approximately 126,000 added to the CC enrollment.

Ninety per cent of the CC workers are taken from relief under the regulations of the work relief program.

Civic Pride is the biggest liar in town. Adding twenty per cent to a census report on population is nothing.

Colonel Hubert Fauntleroy Julian "Black Eagle" Held In Addis Ababa

(International News Service)

ADDIS ABABA, Aug. 8.—Col. Hubert Fauntleroy Julian, Harlem's "Black Eagle," was arrested today on a charge of attacking an Ethiopian aviator, further complicating efforts of the colorful New York negro to become a hero in the realm of Emperor Haile Selassie.

Deny Mountain Climb Victim Has Been Found

Tennessee Youth Falls To Death While Attempting To Climb Colorado Peak

(International News Service)

GRANBY, Colo., Aug. 8.—Members of the searching parties which have been scouring the granite slopes of Lindbergh Peak for the body of William Brode, 15, son of a prominent Memphis, Tenn., family, today denied earlier reports that it had been found.

A ledge from which he is believed to have tumbled into a crevasse was located, and more than 100 searchers, many of them veteran Alpinists, were working out from that point.

The youth fell while attempting to scale the rugged, perpendicular side of the granite which reaches skyward 12,650 feet in the heart of the Colorado Rockies.

Mr. and Mrs. Julian Brode, parents of the unfortunate boy, were reported speeding from Memphis to Colorado in a specially-chartered plane at the same time that news of the discovery of the body reached here.

Sheriff Mark E. Fletcher, of Grand County, who organized a party of 12 expert mountain climbers, telephoned Dr. W. C. Hoshphour, coroner, of the discovery of the body at 9 o'clock p. m. Wednesday.

The Brode youth had been vacationing at the Y. M. C. A. camp, "Chief O'way," a few miles north of here, for the past month. Tuesday he set out with a companion, Robert Henderson, 15, of Omaha, to ascend the peak, a difficult climb for an inexperienced mountaineer.

HARD ON OUR CELEBRITIES

IN attempting to compass human knowledge within the confines of a three-inch-thick book the editors of the encyclopedia compiled by Columbia University encountered the need of economizing space.

Biographies, in consequence, were boiled down and it is interesting—if not particularly complimentary to some well-known men and women of today—to note that it has taken far more words to tell about historical figures than about many a contemporary bigwig.

Greta Garbo, for example, received only an 80-word mention, compared with the 1500 words required for Mary Queen of Scots. Julius Caesar got 2800 words to Franklin D. Roosevelt's 800. John L. Sullivan's life story was longer than Babe Ruth's. Hitler's 750-word sketch was much shorter than the 1100-word description of Thomas A. Becket's life.

These present-day folk may feel they are being slighted. But one can not but wonder how much space will be given Greta Garbo and some of the others now spotlighted on the stage of life when today is as much a part of ancient history as Julius Caesar's era is now.

BIBLES CARRIED AWAY

In the report of the Gleasons that they placed 46,175 Bibles in hotel rooms throughout the United States and Canada last year there is a basis for the belief that the world is getting to be a more spiritual place and that the thoughts of the people are turning to religion.

But details of the report cause us to pause in our reflections. About half of the new Bibles were to replace those carried away by guests—in other words, stolen. The cynics interpret this circumstance as a sign that the world is becoming more irreverent, insisting that none but an absolutely soulless creature would steal a religious object.

There is still the further possibility that the Bibles are carried away by persons who have seen the light and who desire to seek added inspiration in the book which has been so potent an influence toward the good life throughout the ages.

OUR FUTURE HOMES

In the unrelenting march of civilization (current phase) streamlined and airconditioned occur together so frequently that we are beginning to think of them as inseparable. Now there is a notable exception in the home of the future: it will be air-conditioned, but not streamlined.

It seems the architectural forecasts are all the other way. The home of the future will be shaped like a box, at least until we come to the home of the ultra-future, which may be shaped like a farmer's silo. The dominant house models as yet are of the behive type, cubical and angular. The old-fashioned things around our homes happen to be the streamlined things—cornices and eaves and dormers and other flowing lines. They will disappear.

Probably on the inside of this simple geometrical home the furniture and the utensils still will flow. There must be a good many old-fashioned people who resent the stiff lines and sharp corners of modernist furniture.

COMPROMISE ON WILDFOWL

If the object of the federal government is to maintain a supply of wildfowl sufficient to permit comparatively limited shooting of them from year to year, regulations such as those just announced ought to prove adequate. Should the purpose be, however, to restore them to their numbers of a few years ago, before drought, drainage and disease, plus the gunner, did their deadly work, the effectiveness of the regulations is open to question. Any shooting at all may be too much for such a rehabilitation, at least for generations to come.

J. N. Darling, chief of the biological survey, estimates the regulations will mean a saving of 50 per cent of the year's increase in ducks. Obviously he deems that sufficient for whatever goal the government has in view. Such organizations as the National Association of Audubon Societies disagree with him. They insist a saving of 100 per cent is vital and they would effect it through a closed season. Time alone will tell who is right.

Of course, the duck hunting enthusiasts will be no more satisfied than the conservationists are, because, as Mr. Darling says, the regulations are the most drastic in the history of American wildfowl. In the opinion of some gunners they are regarded as being almost tantamount to a closed season.

REDUCE IT FURTHER

During the past few years there has been a slow, but heady, decrease in the nation's fire loss.

The decrease is extending into 1935, according to figures issued by the National Board of Fire Underwriters. During the first six months of this year, loss totaled $136,460,000, as compared with $158,064,000 during the same period in 1934.

The trend is encouraging—about a decade ago the annual fire loss ran in excess of $500,000,000 a year. However, it is still much too high. At least eighty per cent of fires are unnecessary—at least eighty per cent of them could be prevented by thought, care, perhaps the expenditure of a little money.

Every citizen should voluntarily enlist in the fire-fighting army in an effort to further reduce this useless waste. He should periodically inspect his property, and correct any hazards that exist from basement to attic. Piles of papers, improperly stored inflammables, old or amateur electric wiring, defective furnaces, pipes and flues—these are among the great causes of fire in dwellings. And a prolific outside source of fire that is especially dangerous during summer months, is dry, uncut grass.

Any local fire marshal or fire department is glad to give a citizen assistance in the matter of discovering and eliminating fire hazards. Insurance companies are equally co-operative. Ignorance of hazards, like ignorance of the law, is no excuse—the knowledge that will prevent fire can be easily obtained.

In the long run, fire loss determines the cost of insurance, and if we lower losses it will be reflected in our premium rate as soon as it is proved that the waste is going to stay down. Fire loss increases taxes and is a burden to every member of the community. Fire prevention should be regarded as both a privilege and a duty—that saves lives and money and preserves irreplaceable resources.

In making a running catch of a high fly, a Missouri right fielder jumped completely out of his trousers. If the young man can make this a regular part of his performance the problem of a box office attraction to take the place of Babe Ruth is solved.

HOW TO PICK A WIFE

THIS is very good advice. And quite necessary, too, because choosing the right kind of wife is an important element in any man's happiness.

First: Find a young lady who is pleasant to look at. She may be pretty, handsome, or beautiful. You'll see a lot of her, and it's better to see a lot of a human being who is nice to see. . . . If you love her, she'll seem pretty.

Second: Get one who has brains. Brains are a great help in any human relation. If the young lady is stupid, she will be a drag on you, and the world will turn sour. If she has too much intelligence, of course, she may not wish to marry you; but she may not think of that in time.

Third: See that she has a nice disposition. That's a valuable possession, too. After she stops being excited about you—as she probably will—that good disposition will come to your rescue. It will be a grand shock-absorber in matrimony.

Fourth: Get acquainted with her father and mother. Knowing them will tell you more about your girl than she will about herself. . . . If they have some money, that's no hindrance. You aren't marrying for it, but money is quite useful.

Fifth: You might as well marry someone who is well educated. Education fills up the gaps in existence. A little knowledge of history, mathematics, chemistry, physics, literature and so forth is worth having whatever happens.

Sixth: Is she healthy? Is she happy? Is she popular? Is she restless? Does she fuss? Is she vain? Do other women like her? Does she like other women? Does she love you?

And finally—this is EVERY reason up to 2 million and 92—do you LOVE HER? If you love her—then away with all those petty, well-balanced, carefully considered analyses of her character, her family, and her endowments! Away with the genealogists, away with the psychiatrists, away with the experts! . . . Marry the girl and be on your way through life together!

A FRIEND GOES AHEAD

He was a lover of books and he frequently talked of his friends to me.

Many an hour through the wintry

We thumbed the pages of Keats together.

Many a day, like bees in clover,

We flitted the pages of Shelley over.

Many a time did they catch us yielding

Minutes to Smollett or Swift or Fielding.

He was a lover of books and he

With the self-same passion enraptured me.

Many a morning we'd vanish slyly

To ponder the pages of Burns or Riley.

Many a day have we shared the pleasure

Of some dusty, curious, rare old treasure.

And many a night have our wives discovered

Us over some volume of Browning hovered.

Now to the joys which we both have known,

When the passion burns I must go alone.

For my friend has passed through the shining portals

Which lead to the realms of the great immortals.

Now he is gone from the harsh world's frowning

To visit with Dryden and Pope and Browning.

Where I fancy some day at the gate he'll greet me

And maybe bring Shelley and Keats to meet me.

DON'T TRIFLE WITH YOUR LIFE!

You scoff at the idea that a mere scratch might cause blood poisoning.

You scorn immediate treatment because you say that you never had any serious consequences from small abrasions.

You have been fortunate so far, but you are foolish to think that you will escape always, as in the past.

All that should be necessary to cause you to see the foolishness of your position would be to ask some person who has been afflicted that way just what they would do after that experience.

In many instances a slight breaking of the skin seems insignificant.

But there are also many instances where infection has started from no more than a pin prick, resulting in intense suffering—perhaps death.

The experience of those who know should appeal to your good sense.

Many of the ills of human beings might be avoided.

Consult a physician and get a treatment to contract any possible ill effects.

Then follow directions strictly and save time and suffering.

It is not silly to take precautions, it is far siller not to take extreme measures immediately so as to avoid a possible case of blood poisoning.

Recall Constitution Phrases.
Tranquility And Welfare.
Bad Break For McNutt.Central Press
New York Bureau
235 East 45th street

By LESLIE EICHEL

Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—New Dealers are hailing the decision of U. S. District Judge John D. Martin, of Memphis, Tenn., upholding the AAA processing taxes, for a significant reason.

The judge based his decision on the "general welfare" clause of the constitution. This is the clause under which the New Dealers contend all their legislation was passed.

The clause in the preamble of the constitution, reads:

"We, the people of the United States, in order to form a more perfect union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquility, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this constitution for the United States of America."

The pertinent phrase is "to insure domestic tranquility . . . promote the general welfare."

BOOMERANG
The National Association of Manufacturers is receiving a severe counter-attack from the New Dealers for an omission of fact in its bulletin, "The Voice of American Industry."

The bulletin contrasted President Roosevelt's suggestion that the Guffey coal bill be passed and let the constitutionality be determined later, with a veto by President Taft.

President Taft, in vetoing the Webb-Kenyon act asserted: "It is said it should be left to the supreme court to say whether this proposed act violates the constitution. I dissent utterly from this proposition."

The implication was left by the article, which quoted the entire veto message, that this ended the matter, and that President Taft's view was upheld.

As a matter of fact, congress passed the bill over President Taft's veto and the supreme court declared the bill constitutional.

BAD BREAK
Governor Paul V. McNutt of Indiana has longed to be a presidential candidate or even a vice-presidential candidate.

But now it looks as if powerful elements are turning against him. Labor is bitter, and in Indiana labor means a great deal.

In the Terre Haute general strike, national guardsmen prevented union workers from meeting in their own labor temple. And strike sympathizers, including a university professor, were arrested and questioned concerning their stand on war and economic questions.

The labor men insisted they were trying to settle the difficulties. The troops virtually put an end to the general strike, and labor says the company over which the strike was called then refused to concede strike-breakers.

More than one governor, looking ahead, has the jitters. One day's all.

What is believed to be the world's oldest Bible, still legible, was recently found in a book shop in Cairo, Egypt. It is nothing more than a pile of 190 sheets of dusty manuscripts of laboriously handwritten pages.

Dates appearing on it indicate it was written in the Second Century A. D. The sheets do not include the entire Bible as we know it now. Only the Gospel of Matthew and Paul's epistles are complete. All the rest of the books of both testaments are fragmentary.

The Cairo shop keeper in whose place of business these ancient manuscripts were found declared they had been discovered in an earthen jar on the site of an old monastery.

They are now in exhibition in the Austrian National Library in Vienna, which has purchased them. The Austrians have not yet spent

Communists Are Blamed

Strike Situation At Camden,
N. J., Is Attributed
To Plot

NAVY CONSTRUCTION
IS BEING DELAYED

By KINGSBURY SMITH
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—Information has reached the navy department that a Communist plot is underway to foment strikes in the principal industries of Camden, N. J.

The Communists have laid definite plans to extend to Camden's other industries the labor trouble which has tied up work on naval vessels at the New York Shipbuilding company's plant there since May, according to the navy's information.

If these communist plans materialize, naval officials believe they will constitute a definite menace to Camden's entire economic life.

This information concerning the communist activities at Camden reached the navy in connection with its investigation of the strike at the shipbuilding company's plant there which has delayed work on seven naval vessels for nearly three months.

Naval officials are convinced that communist agitators are behind this strike and have impeded the efforts to reach a settlement.

However, the navy considers the New York Shipbuilding corporation is to blame as well as the workers for failure to effect a settlement and high ranking officials today were prepared to recommend to President Roosevelt that the navy move in and take over control of the naval vessels unless the company agrees to arbitration.

An official announcement by the navy department said the company had until noon today to respond to its proposal that the dispute be referred to an arbitration board of three members, the latter to be selected by President Roosevelt.

If the company fails to respond satisfactorily to the demand, there is a possibility that the remainder of the construction work on the seven vessels will be taken away from the Camden district and either completed in a government yard or given to some other private construction firm.

This is the procedure likely to be recommended if a naval investigation discloses that both the workers and shipyard company share equal responsibility for failure to reach a settlement.

The navy believes it has ample authority to take such action under contracts made with the New York Shipbuilding company if the latter refuses to submit to arbitration.

A fact finding commission to determine responsibility in the dispute is considered likely first.

Mrs. Viscount was convicted of fortune telling and sentenced to four years in prison. According to Corbett's statement to the police, they were at Tucker's home and Presley attempted to take 25 cents from him. Corbett fled but was captured by cruiser car operatives in Friendship street. All are colored. The victim is in the New Castle hospital.

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—While investigators sought evidence today which they hope will convict him of the fiendish mutilation murder of Dr. Walter J. Bauer, Mandeville W. Zenge, four young Missouri farmer-carpenter, sat in his jail cell and moaned over his ex-financee, Mrs. Louise Schaeffer Bauer, comely young widow of the mutilation victim.

The skinny, swarthy carpenter still loves Louise, "would do anything for her," intends to marry her when he "gets out of this trouble."

It was for his lost love, the authorities contend, that the love-lorn Zenge kidnaped Dr. Bauer from his Ann Arbor, Mich., hotel, forced him to drive to Chicago and early the morning of July 30, bound the 33-year-old chemistry professor hand and foot and crudely emasculated him with a penknife. Dr. Bauer died in a hospital a few hours later from loss of blood.

During hours of questioning Zenge has steadfastly denied committing the savage act, or any knowledge of it.

The comely widow, night superintendent of nurses in a Kirkville, Mo., hospital, married Dr. Bauer July 14, just three days before her scheduled marriage to Zenge, her childhood sweetheart.

Zenge has admitted feeling "pretty bad" over Louise's marriage. Investigators say he was insanely jealous, that the jealousy was inflamed by belief Dr. Bauer was mistreating his bride. Whether this belief was based on fact or fancy, investigators dispatched to Kirkville and Canton, Zenge's home, hope to determine.

Champlain Fails To Sail On Time

French Liner Is Delayed As Result Of Strike Of Seamen

(International News Service)

PARIS, Aug. 8.—Eight hundred passengers for the French liner, Champlain, who booked to sail yesterday, wandered angrily around Havre while the striking crew met to decide whether the ship may weigh anchor of New York today.

Hard hit by the strike which threatens to tie up the giant Normandie and other transatlantic liners, the government-subsidized French line capitulated partially to the sailor's demand for restoration of the ten per cent wage cuts ordered in the nation's drastic economy program.

Sixty stewards, accepting the line's offer for a three per cent instead of ten per cent, went back to work aboard the Champlain. Two hundred and four other members of the Champlain's crew, however, remained off the boat while they debated the offer.

Must Re-Equip Mints To Make Midget Money

States May Run Afoul Of Counterfeiting Laws If They Make The Coins

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—Indication that the proposed midget money may be as much of a pest to the treasury department as to the public was seen today when treasury experts discovered that it will be necessary to re-equip government mints if the new designs are approved by congress.

The present tools and equipment of the mints were intended only for regular coins. If congress approves the new coins it might be necessary, treasury experts said, to redesign the coins which it is understood President Roosevelt himself has checked and which resemble Chinese currency—square with holes in the middle.

New complications arose also with the discovery that if the states proceed with their present plans of coining this money themselves they might run afoul of counterfeiting laws. Secretary Morgenthau said, however, he would not ask the department of justice for any action. Despite the fact that the department of justice is understood to have concurred in the recent treasury opinion that the states cannot legally manufacture these coins.

"Free Love Colony" Being Investigated

(International News Service)
PHOENIX, Ariz., Aug. 8.—Federal authorities today investigated a "free love" colony near Kingman, Ariz.

The practice of polygamy in northern Arizona was brought to the attention of civil and federal authorities by relief agents who declared in many instances men were living with two or three, and sometimes as high as four wives.

Immediately after the complaints were received county attorney Bolinger at Kingman, issued warrants for the arrest of eight persons.

Under Edmonds Act
Attaches of the United States attorney's office here declared in the event federal charges were brought the defendants would be prosecuted under the Edmonds act, an old government statute under which Latter Day Saints were prosecuted from 1870 to 1890 and under which severe penalties were imposed.

Prosecutions under the Edmonds law were responsible for the original Mormon immigration to Arizona by pioneers seeking an isolated country far from governmental observation.

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals today upheld a District Court ruling that the St. Joseph-Chicago Steamship Co., former owners of the steamer Eastland, which sank in the Chicago river, July 24, 1915, is not liable for the 835 deaths in the disaster.

The court held that the company was liable only to the extent of the salvage value of the vessel; that the boat was seaworthy; that the operators had taken proper precautions and that the responsibility was traced to an engineer who neglected to fill the ballast tanks properly.

Wilkes-Barre Is Preparing For Big Convention

American Legion And Sons Of Legion Will Gather Next Week

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Aug. 7.—Wilkes-Barre is putting on its gala attire in preparation for the sixteenth annual convention of the Department of Pennsylvania, American Legion, and the first convention of the Sons of the American Legion, which will open August 15, continuing through the 17th.

Registrations are nearing a thousand for the junior group, while every city and town in the Commonwealth will be represented in the Senior organization, making it a certainty that this year's convention will be the largest in the history of the Department.

The climax of the three-day gathering will be the parade on Saturday, August 17, which culminates in the annual band and bugle and drum corps contests. One third of a mile of bleachers stand along Wilkes-Barre's famous River Common, offering grandstand seats to more than ten thousand persons. It is expected that thirty thousand marchers will be in the line of parade with two hundred musical units.

The contests will be held at night in Myers Stadium, with special lighting arrangements. Accommodations have been provided for every applicant for reservations, and any increase will be taken care of by the convention committee, headed by Commander Thomas E. Williams, announce.

Col. Roosevelt Is Enthused

Result Of Rhode Island Congressional Election Pleases T. R.'s Son

(International News Service) NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—"The American people have served notice their votes are not for sale."

This was the elated comment of Col. Theodore Roosevelt today on the Republican party's smashing victory in the election of Charles F. Risk to congress from Rhode Island.

Asked if he had anything to say about his party's triumph, the president's Republican relative, with no attempt to conceal his delight, told International News Service:

"I should say I do want to say something about this!

"Rhode Island is a vindication of the American character. The American people in unmistakable terms have told the national administration that they cannot be bought."

Asked if he felt the Rhode Island election was an indication of the trend of the presidential election next year, Roosevelt said:

"Absolutely! It's a straw in the wind. I have said for the last three months that the Republicans will win next year. This is a sure sign."

It is careless to say people are growing worse. The difficulty of hiding meanness may be the answer.

ANNOUNCING A NEW PENNZIP GAS THAT MAKES ALL CARS RUN SMOOTHER!

A PERFECT PARTNER OF NEW PENNZOIL MOTOR OIL

Sensational New Type Gasoline, Engineered For Today's Higher-Compression Motors, Makes All Cars Run Smoother! "No-Knock" Rating Increased!

HERE'S the big, timely news local motorists have been waiting for! New Pennzip Gasoline, the Perfect Partner for New Pennzoi Motor Oil, is now available in this locality—a gasoline as outstanding in its field as New Pennzoi Motor Oil is among lubricating oils!

MAKES ALL CARS RUN SMOOTHER

Today's new-type, high-compression motors, with their high speeds, and sensitive timing, just can't develop their full power and smooth running ability with old-type gasolines. That is why The Pennzoi Company, at great cost, has made a good gasoline better by increasing the "no-knock" rating of Pennzip.

It's the gasoline for your car whether it be high or low compression... an utterly new-type motor fuel that enables your motor to RUN SMOOTHER—to develop the greater power for which it was built—and to send your car roaring along the highways with new smoothness, speed and pep!

ECONOMICAL—COSTS NO MORE!

Just think—New Pennzip gives you this smooth-running, effortless performance in all weather the year round... and, although it cost real money to develop, New Pennzip costs you not a penny more. So get a tankful of New Pennzip today—at any station displaying the Pennzip sign.

MOTORIST: "My car used to be sluggish. Now it runs smoother, with full pep and power, since I changed to New Pennzip Gasoline."

WHY NEW PENNZIP GIVES BETTER RESULTS

New Pennzip Gasoline is carefully "controlled" in 4 important ways, to assure you smoother, more economical motor performance.

First, practically all the damaging, power-wasting impurities found in ordinary, old-type gasolines have been removed from New Pennzip. This means greater freedom from corrosion, and from valve and piston-ring troubles. Result: With New Pennzip in your tank, your high-compression motor runs smoothly, freely—with all the pep and power for which it was designed. Second, New Pennzip has a "Low Initial Boiling Point" (Volatility)—which enables your motor to start quickly in all weather, with less battery drain and practically no wasted gasoline. Third, New Pennzip has a Higher Octane Rating—which means smoothness, extra power and "no-knock" action. And Fourth, New Pennzip's Controlled Vapor Pressure gives smooth, even-running motor performance under all weather conditions.

Remember—in spite of all these advantages, New Pennzip costs no more. So ask for New Pennzip at any station displaying the Pennzip sign.

On Court House Hill

Fred Coutts, Ellwood R. D. 7, has filed an application at the prothonotary's office for a divorce from his wife, Hazel Gladys Coutts, on the grounds of desertion. The couple were married in New Cumberland, W. Va., in April, 1927. Mrs. Coutts is said to be living in Lisbon, O.

Will of the late Ella McCready of New Bedford has been submitted to probate at the register and recorder's office. She left $100 to the Hope-well Presbyterian church of New Bedford, and a piano to the National Board of Missions. The residue of her estate goes to the National Board of Missions of the Presbyterian church, north, of the United States. Frances M. Calderwood is named as executrix.

There has been unusual activity at the naturalization department in the prothonotary's office in view of the new permanent registration law. The new law requires that all applicants for registration present their naturalization papers. Many of those who appear at the office report that they have lost their papers or cannot find them. When a naturalized person loses papers new ones can be secured by sending one dollar and the necessary proofs to the naturalization department at Pittsburgh. For derivative papers the fee is five dollars. Derivative papers are those of the father of an applicant who claims the right to register through the naturalization of the father.

Margaret LaFever of 514 Fairmont avenue has filed an application at the prothonotary's office for a divorce from her husband, LaRue LaFever, whose address is given as the Savage hotel, East Washington street. The couple were married in October, 1929. The application is made on the grounds of cruel and barbarous treatment.

Register and Recorder William R. Hanna announces that Saturday, August 10, is the last day for filing accounts for presentation at the September term of court. This includes the accounts of administrators and executors.

Under the new permanent registration law the registrars must return the results of the first day's registration on the day following the registration. Under the old system the registrars kept the books in their possession until after the third registration day. As the new registrations are made on cards, instead of on books as formerly, the registrars will be put to no trouble except that of going to the registrars office.

Under the will of the late Thomas I. Palmer of New Wilmington, which has been admitted to probate at the register and recorder's office, all of decedent's property is left to his wife, Minnie Palmer. Mrs. Palmer is also named as executrix.

With new candidates taking out nomination papers every day it looks as though a big job will confront election boards when they come to count the vote cast at the primary. The largest number of candidates seem to be out for the office of county commissioner, and it will be quite a job to count the ballots for this office alone. Prospective candidates have less than a week now in which to file their papers. August 13 is the last day for filing petitions with the county commissioners for county, city, borough and township offices.

Seek Co-operation In Campaign For Safer Highways

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Aug. 8.—Declaring that concerted action is "imperative" Harry E. Kaldner, secretary of revenue on Wednesday called upon half a hundred delegates meeting here to join in organizing a state-wide, permanent organization to cope with Pennsylvania's highway safety problem.

"The safety of lives and property on the state's highways, Kaldner told assembled representatives of motor clubs, civic organizations and trucker's association is "one of the most important human problems facing in this commonwealth."

Opening the meeting in the senate chamber, Kaldner briefly outlined proposals based on experience of his department and threw the meeting open for discussion.

Formation of a state-wide organization, with a committee in each county, he said, would best advance the campaign of education being undertaken by the revenue department. The department's safety division, Kaldner said, is prepared to act as a clearing house for committee activities.

The return of the trench coat to favor is heralded by the appearance of one young girl wearing a model of gabardine as a casual topcoat.

Attacker Of Girl Is Being Hunted

(International News Service) FORD CITY, Aug. 8.—Police today continued an intensive search for a man who allegedly attempted to kidnap and criminally attack 13-year old Johanna Baldaer. Under threat of killing her, it was said, the man attempted to force the girl to drink the contents of a bottle supposed to have contained a drug.

A local physician, who examined Johanna, stated he found no trace of the drug and that she had not been attacked. Johanna's step-sister posted a $500 reward for information leading to the arrest of the assailant.

Grandmother has her secret. She alone has the correct conception of the picture she would have made, fifty years ago, in the kind of bathing suit now worn.

G. O. P. Support Is Widespread

Eight Or Nine Potential Candidates Are Shown As Being Favored

LUCAS REVEALS SOME POLL RESULTS

By GEORGE DUNNO
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—It is still decidedly a horse race for next year's Republican presidential nomination. Eight or nine potential candidates are receiving a tentatively favorable eye in varying degree but no one stands out as the favorite among the county leaders as far from crystallized.

There is a widespread conviction that the ticket opposing President Roosevelt should be composed of a western man for president and an eastern man for vice president. New England Republicans share this view along with those in the west and south.

Out in the "grass roots" there is a pronounced feeling that the old G. O. P. leadership, which dominated the party nationally from 1912 to 1932, should be taken definitely out of the saddle—and very soon.

Draws Conclusions.
These are the conclusions Robert H. Lucas, former executive director of the Republican national committee, draws from an approximately one-third return from his poll of some 4,000 county chairmen, city leaders and "Young Republicans."

Lucas is in somewhat of a quandary about making the results of his poll public, even when completed. He intimates he will not. The reason he gives is that it would be unfair to any particular aspirant to be branded as the outstanding candidate at this early stage. The rea-

Record Scout Group Awaits Eagle Badges

Between 10 And 25 Will Be Cited In October Cancel August Court

Between 10 and 25 Boy Scouts of Lawrence county will be elevated to the coveted Eagle scout rank at a county-wide Court of Honor ceremony to be held some time during October, the Rev. A. M. Stump, pastor of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran church, and chairman of the Court of Honor of the North district revealed today.

Rev. Stump at the same time announced that the Court of Honor planned for the North district for August has been cancelled.

Except on occasions such as that planned for October, the courts are held separately in the South (Ellwood City) and North districts. The award exercises that month will bring together scouts from both districts.

The October event will see one of the largest groups of Boy Scouts attain the Eagle rank in a body. It will also be one of the largest groups ever to be recognized at any Court of Honor in Region Three.

TWO WOMEN GUILTY OF TORSO MURDER

Both Are Facing Electric Chair

Court Finds Verdict After Hearing Testimony In Chicago Crime

DEFENDANTS HAD WAIVED JURY TRIAL

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—The dubious distinction of being the first women to die in Illinois' electric chair faces Mrs. Blanche Dunkel, 42-year-old grandmother, and Mrs. Evelyn Smith, 26-year-old son-in-law.

Judge Harrington found the two guilty yesterday. The defendants had waived a jury trial.

Mrs. Smith, who wore a leering smile throughout the trial, was jocular concerning her possible demise at the hands of the state.

Her first words after Judge Harrington pronounced the verdict were:

"Who's got a cigarette?"

Not Unexpected

Asked what she thought of the decision, she replied, "Just about what I expected."

"What would your choice be," she was asked, "death in the chair or a life sentence?"

"I'm not fussy," was her answer.

Mrs. Dunkel presented a strange contrast to her erstwhile pal. Her words broken by heaving sobs, she said:

It looks like the electric chair for me.

Judge Harrington has a wide choice of penalties ranging from a minimum of 14 years in prison to the death penalty.

Both women confessed the ghastly murder. Their confessions were read by the state yesterday, shortly before they took the stand in their own defense.

Mrs. Dunkel confessed hiring Mrs. Smith to kill the young grocer's clerk for a promised $500. She made a partial payment of $100, she said.

Establish Motive

In a supplementary confession read by the prosecution, Mrs. Dunkel established a motive for the crime, admitting romantic relations with her son-in-law, and relating her mad jealousy because he planned to leave her and marry.

Mrs. Smith's confessions told how the mother-in-law had nagged her for weeks to perform the slaying.

The former honky-tonk dancer related how on the night of July 5, Mrs. Dunkel brought Lang to her apartment where he was pined with whisky. She told how she gave ether to the stupefied Lang, strangled him, hacked his legs from his body "because he was too heavy to carry," and with the help of her fugitive Chinese husband, Harry Jung, dumped the torso in a swamp near Hammond, Ind., the legs along a roadside near Munster, Ind.

Mrs. Smith's gory confession was interspersed with wisecracks, contrasting horribly with the sordid details as the prosecutor intoned the confession in court.

Accuse Each Other

Testifying in their own defense, each woman blamed the other.

Mrs. Dunkel testified "Evelyn suggested it. He (Lang) was running around with other women."

Mrs. Smith's story from the stand was a weird plea of undying friendship as the motive for the slaying.

"I did it more out of sympathy than anything else," she declared. "I liked Blanche Dunkel and was sorry for her. She hounded me to do it with her continual sob stories."

"I had no personal dislike for Lang."

"She nagged me until I was sap enough to do it."

Prosecutor Charles S. Dougherty, in his closing statement, demanded the death penalty for the two women, calling the crime "The most callous murder ever planned," and the defendants "cruel and calculating" women.

Public defender Benjamin Bachrach, counsel for the pair, sought to save his clients from the chair by contending they evidenced "A lack of mental responsibility."

"They had half-baked ideas," he said.

Chief Justice Cornelius J. Harrington of the criminal court, will sentence the unlovely pair of cronies in crime today, for the sordid torso murder of Ervin Lang, Mrs. Dunkel's 26-year-old son-in-law.

government take it over, and print some more "inflation bonds" to pay for it?

Who would buy seven hundred million dollars worth of stock from the government? Nobody but an idiot, if the Fords were driven out and the government tried to run it.

You cannot kill your chicken and still have a live chicken, and the government may as well recognize that. This is no criticism of higher wisdom, it is a groping for information.

"HE HATH put down the mighty," Prince Abdul Kerim, might be Sultan of Turkey, if the "Young Turks" party and Kemal Pasha had never been born. The Prince killed himself in New York, and was going to Potters' Field, when his father called from Turkey ordering a "dignified burial". The dead man's lawyer then ordered a $4,800 bronze casket.

The unfortunate Prince, a Caliph, high in the Mohammedan religion, planned to marry a rich American girl, and restore the power of his family.

He did not follow the teachings of his leader, Mohammed, closely; a quart bottle of gin, three-quarters empty, was found beside his body. The Koran says: "No gin," or its equivalent.

DID YOU buy bonds in the big war excitement, when little ladies, seated on elephants, sang patriotic songs, and begged you to give "till it hurts?"

One hundred and eighty-nine million dollars worth of government bonds are mislaid somewhere, perhaps hidden in old trunks, in desks, safe-deposit boxes, by those now dead. Look around. The government would like to get these past due bonds and pay for them.

MR. LUCAS, once executive director of the Republican national committee, says Col. Charles A. Lindbergh would make a good candidate for the Republican presidential nomination. For a strange reason, Col. Lindbergh would probably lose the German vote. Politics does not reason.

Why Of Midget Money Answered

Taxes Here And Living Standards In China Are Arguments Against It

WOULD ASSIST BUYER IS CLAIM

Central Press Washington Bureau 1900 S street
By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer
WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—Opponents of midget money advance against it the point that living standards are low in all countries where such money circulates. William A. DuPuy, a recognized authority on coinage and author of a standard book ("Money") on the subject, ventures the guess, however, that midget money is not what causes low living standards, but that low living standards necessitate the coining of midget money; otherwise there would be no demand for small enough for the microscopic transactions to which most trade is restricted.

American midget money advocates suggest the issuance of one-tenth and one-half-cent coins to enable buyers to meet sales taxation at its exact rate, or approximately so.

That is to say, if there is a 1-mill tax on a 10-cent sale, the vendor is likely to charge 11 cents; he doesn't propose to pay the tax himself and there is no coin small enough to permit him to split the odd cent with the buyer—not, probably, that the salesman particularly objects to adding 9-cent to his profit, but it is a manifest injustice to the consumer.

WOULD AID BUYER

The process known as pyramiding sales taxes to the public might, then, be handicapped by the minting of coins tiny enough to facilitate exact payments.

Half-cent and one-cent coins would be burdensome to carry, they might be economical for shopping. Small coinage, in order to make change, Du Puy argues, is a different thing from a small coinage necessitated by the fact that all dickerings is of infinitesimal proportions.

IN CHINA

To illustrate, in agreement with Du Puy:
I have lived as a "European" (in that part of the world all white folk are known as "Europeans", in China.

The Chinese living standard notoriously is close to nadir.

Ten or 20 cents "Mex" (about half the equivalent of a similar sum in the United States) rates as a passable daily income for a coolie. He buys his food by the mouthful. His wardrobe costs less than a quarter. He sleeps where he lies down.

One cent in U. S. money is a snug amount to him.
He HAS to have an exceedingly small coin to do his buying in—or it is a wholesale bargain. And the coolie cannot afford to be a whole-sale customer.

COOLIE MUST HAVE IT

Therefore, the coolie does have a small coin—the brass "cash", with a value of about one mill "Mex", or one-half mill in U. S. money.

He doesn't have it so small in order to pay taxes. He has it so small because it is the measure of his buying capacity. What taxes he pays come OUT of it.

I don't think the smallness of his currency limits his buying capacity. I think the smallness of his buying capacity limits the size of his money.

WHY THEY ARE SMALL

A foreigner in China never even sees a "cash", except as a curiosity. He handles large deals in "taels" (a weight in silver; his small ones in Mexican silver dollars; his VERY small ones in provincial fractional currency, down to 20-cent pieces—of "Mex" valuation.

The size of the coins doesn't seem to have anything to do with it. Instead, the size of the coins appears to be regulated by the economic status of the various groups which swap them.

If they MUST be small apparently they WILL be small.

It not, why SHOULD they be small—unnecessarily?

Du Puy seems to me to be right—Coinage adapts itself to economic necessity; not economics to coinage.

Bonus Issue Dead At Congress Session

Will Be Reviewed Early In January Session, However, It Is Indicated

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—The bonus issue is dead so far as the present session of congress is concerned—killed by clever political moves plus a general desire for adjournment.
By the same token, the issue was revived as a burning question for the session which will convene next January.

This came about when the Democratic senate leader, Senator Robinson of Arkansas, announced after meeting with his New Deal Steering committee chieftains in the senate that they would be glad to fix a specific time for considering the bonus two weeks or so after the next congress convenes.

When this announcement was backed up by the co-operation of Senator Byrnes (D) of South Carolina, a staunch supporter of President Roosevelt, in introducing a new bonus bill, all bonus moves for the present were abandoned. Even the ardent bloc headed by Senator Thomas (D) of Oklahoma, after a night meeting, decided that the bonus would have a better chance for enactment next year.

Mrs. G. Ryock of Windber, thought to be a victim, was recovering from a case of actual sleeping sickness.

Dr. J. P. Leake of the U. S. Public Health Service, remained in Windber attempting to find the source of the virus.

First Reunion Will Attract Former Pupils To Building On Saturday

A dinner at noon followed by an afternoon program will feature the first annual reunion of former pupils and teachers and friends of Coal Ridge school in Little Beaver township on Saturday, August 10, W. N. Walker, New Galilee, president of the reunion organization, announced today.

One of the oldest schools in the Little Beaver section, the Coal Ridge building still serves that community. W. A. Scott, Enon Valley, is the group's recording secretary while H. A. Leslie, also of Enon, is its corresponding secretary.

Louis Flattens King Levinsky In One Round

Chicago Ex-Fish Peddler Lasts But Two Minutes And 21 Seconds Against Louis

SAVAGE ATTACK SPILLS KINGFISH

By DAVID J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—An experimental guinea pig, well fed and docile with the timidity of its kind, was led out to needless slaughter last night—needless because, of the two things this sanguinary clinic brought out, one was already conceded and the other didn't matter.

The first had to do with the known and accepted fact that Joe Louis, Detroit's great negro heavyweight, hits with the destructive effect of a crocodile's tail. The second, surprisingly enough, showed King Levinsky, the bold, bad man of the Chicago fish marts, in the ignoble role of one whose pride is so far gone that, in this final extremity, courage yielded gladly to self-preservation.

Human Thing To Do

They even said that the King asked to have the fight stopped, although he denied the imputation with vigor.

In any case it was all over in 2:21 of the first round with Levinsky teetering on unwilling legs and looking pathetically about him for some nice, kind face. The King, frightened beyond all ordinary expectations, reminded 40,000 witnesses of the helpless bait or "sacrifice" they tether out on the African Veldt to appease the pangs of wild animal hunger. He never had a chance. As a matter of fact, he didn't seem to want it.

Levinsky Quits

Actually, he was down three times before the end. Officially, they made it four. The fourth, however, was pretty much of a sit down, the King having discreetly selected a strand of the ropes in a neutral corner for the purpose. Referee Norman McGarrity didn't exactly know what to do about that, so he did very little, if anything. He finally decided to act when the King, having been cajoled out of the ropes, resumed his semi-recumbent posture as promptly as possible.

This outburst has permitted itself to refer to the victim having been led out to slaughter but mature deliberation forces the admission that this statement is somewhat in error. He wasn't led out. He practically had to be pushed.

ALL-STAR PLAYERS IN CITY PLAYGROUND LEAGUE WILL COMPETE

The best moshball players in playgrounds throughout the city will display their wares on Friday afternoon, August 16, at Gaston Park, when the first of a series of three contests will be played between two all star teams to be selected from the City Playground Moshball League.

Within the next few days, the players who will compete in the series, will be announced. Director Frank Leonard stated today. Every playground in the city will have one or more representatives.

Wet Grounds Stop League Ball Games

All games in the Lawrence County loop scheduled for yesterday were unplayed owing to wet grounds. The next league game will be a clash between Ryantown and Hillsville at Hillsville, Friday and on Saturday the schedule will be as follows: Carbon at Mahoning and West Pittsburgh at Wampum.

Reporter "Kids" With Levinsky, Gets Chased

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—Kingfish Levinsky is still king of his dressing room anyway.

After being ignobly stopped in the first round of his scheduled 10 round battle with Joe Louis here last night Levinsky opined:

"I'd like to fight Louis again." "What do you mean, 'fight'?" a reporter impudently ventured.

"Get out of here the indignant Kingfish shouted, rising threateningly from his rubbing table."

The reporter beat a hasty retreat.

Red Sox And Yanks Split

Bob Grove Wins First Game, Wes Ferrell Beaten In Second Game

By TONY PUGLIESE
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—Robert Moses "Lefty" Grove of the Boston Red Sox has little regard for the saying, "they never come back." As the 1935 season wears on, Grove's thoughts turn back a year to mound disappointments, the odor of lament, and long sessions of basking a sore arm.

This year Grove is combining with Wes Ferrell to keep the Red Sox in the money. Together they have accounted for 32 of the 52 wins recorded by the Bostonians.

After being ignobly stopped in the first round of his scheduled 10 round battle with Joe Louis here last night Levinsky opined:

"I'd like to fight Louis again." "What do you mean, 'fight'?" a reporter impudently ventured.

"Get out of here the indignant Kingfish shouted, rising threateningly from his rubbing table."

The reporter beat a hasty retreat.

By TONY PUGLIESE
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—Robert Moses "Lefty" Grove of the Boston Red Sox has little regard for the saying, "they never come back." As the 1935 season wears on, Grove's thoughts turn back a year to mound disappointments, the odor of lament, and long sessions of basking a sore arm.

This year Grove is combining with Wes Ferrell to keep the Red Sox in the money. Together they have accounted for 32 of the 52 wins recorded by the Bostonians.

Braddock Would Meet Joe Louis

James J. Braddock, Heavyweight Champion, Willing To Battle "Black Bomber"

(International News Service)
HAZLETON, Pa., Aug. 8.—"What fight?"

That today was the way James J. Braddock, the heavyweight champion, summed up the 2 1/2 minute scrap between Joe Louis, the Detroit Bomber, and King Levinsky of Chicago, last night.

"I didn't know you called that a fight," Jimmy added.

"When do you want to fight Louis?" the champion was asked.

Here Joe Gould, Braddock's manager, broke in.

"Tell 'em," he said, "that Jimmy is out looking for a fight with Joe Louis. He's the leading contender and we want to fight him. Like I said before, tell Schmeling and Baer they can go eliminate Louis first, if they can, before they come to us for a fight. We want to fight Louis."

The champion nodded assent to his manager's answer.

"That's the way it stacks up," he grinned.

See Warning To Democrats

Rhode Island Election Result Has New Dealers In Worried State

ALL IS NOT WELL WITH PROGRAM

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—Shivers ran up and down Democratic spines today as a result of Tuesday's smashing defeat in Rhode Island's special election.

Speculation immediately arose on Capitol Hill whether there might be in progress elsewhere in the nation a much stronger tide against New Deal spending and other policies than previous straws have indicated. Senator Peter G. Gerry (D), Rhode Island, told news men there was no use trying to conceal the force of the blow and that it behooved the Roosevelt administration to move quickly to remodel its policies accordingly. Gerry is a conservative and he attributed the Rhode Island result to disaffection over the textile processing tax, federal spending, the utilities "death sentence" and the wealth tax bill.

Democratic national headquarters was silent. Democratic congressmen and senators either followed this example, minimized the Rhode Island vote as of no national significance, or registered consternation. New England Democrats were especially concerned. There have been previous though less emphatic evidences that all was not well with the New Deal in New England.

Stock Market Stronger Today

Market Turns Stronger After Early Irregularity And Slowly Advances

By LESLIE GOULD International News Service Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—The stock market turned stronger today after early irregularity, with leadership provided by General Motors, mail orders, aviation, and auto accessories.

A factor was a firmer tone in the rails after an early drop running to a point in Atchison. Losses were recovered and gains substituted as Union Pacific rallied more than a point in advance of the dividend meeting.

General Motors sold at the highest level since 1931. Chrysler firmed up after first hour sluggishness.

Sears Roebuck jumped 2 points and Montgomery Ward rose over a point.

Bendix and Electric Auto Lite were turned over in large volume in the accessories and bettered their previous highs.

The aviation staged a flurry and went to new 1935 highs in large scale activity. Douglas and United aircraft were the pacemakers.

Merchandising shares improved under the stimulus of rising prices for the mail orders.

Steels firmed up after early sluggishness. U. S. Steel went above the previous close. Bethlehem preferred rose over 2 points.

Utilities were again neglected and marked time awaiting the outcome of the conferences on the holding company bill. Price changes were small.

Of were weighed down by selling in Standard of New Jersey, which lost nearly a point.

There was more activity in the rubbers at high prices, with Goodyear and the U. S. rubber issues in demand.

Chemicals strengthened after initial losses but showed little aggressiveness. Farm implements were little better than steady. Westinghouse rose a point.

Grain and cotton did little pending tomorrow's crop reports. Bonds were quiet and foreign exchanges dull.

Tax Program In Final Stage

President Roosevelt's Tax Measure Moves Forward In Senate

MUCH OPPOSITION BEING ENCOUNTERED

By EDWARD B. LOCKETT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—Moving forward under a drumfire of opposition, President Roosevelt's tax program today approached its final stages before the senate finance committee.

Hearings before the committee today will end open discussion of the measure until it is brought to the senate floor. The work of drafting the bill behind closed doors will begin tomorrow. Administration leaders hoped to be able to complete this by Saturday. There may be a day's delay, postponing completion until next week.

At any rate, the early days of next week will see the $250,000,000 measure before the senate for final action. The senate Democratic leader, Senator Robinson of Arkansas, expressed the hope that a vote would come before next week is out. If this can be accomplished, Robinson said he believed an adjournment of congress could be brought about by August 21.

There were rumblings of discontent, among the Democrats as well as Republicans, as the bill was carried along but whether this will manifest itself in real changes was in doubt. United States Chamber of Commerce witnesses have criticized the bill, business interests have attacked it, and some senators have assailed it as negligible from the standpoint of revenue but the adjournment rush is on. It will surprise leaders if changes are made that will precipitate lengthy debate.

Sam Sikirica, 17, Being Interrogated By Officials Of Allegheny County

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Aug. 8.—Falling to uncover additional clues by checking his record at Johnstown, police and detectives today continued their questioning of Sam Sikirica, 17, the latest suspect in the slaying of Mrs. Martha Westwood, wife of Justice of the Peace James J. Westwood of McKees Rocks.

Becoming suspicious over changes they said the youth made in his original story given a month ago when the slaying occurred, detectives went to Johnstown and made a minute examination of his record there. Allegheny county detectives said Sikirica was described by Johnstown authorities as a member of a youthful robber gang active in that section.

Sikirica, once questioned and released, was seized again as a suspect when detectives learned he was wanted for participation in a store holdup in Johnstown in May of last year. This circumstance, they explained, tended to cast doubt on the youth's previous assertions that he knew nothing of the Westwood slaying.

Held as a fugitive, the youth was questioned for four hours and declared he knew nothing of the Westwood case until 12 hours after the slaying occurred. Previously, detectives said, he had admitted hearing the shots that killed Mrs. Westwood as he was walking in an alley at the rear of her home.

In the belief that he was concealing vital information for them, police held Sikirica locked up for further examination.

The Harrowing

Case of the "Gs"!

Mister G., shy man and quiet, With his wife lived happily. Till upon a day in August, Hotter than a day should be, Came a knock upon the front door.

Came a knock vociferous. Entered Cousin Joe and fam'ly; Entered they with fume and fuss. Up spoke Joe, good Joe Padooka: (Joe was fat, his wife was sleek) "Cheer up folks, be not down- hearted."

"We can only stay four weeks," Mister G. and Missus faintly; Fainted they quite dead away. All things must at last be ended. All too soon did end their faint. Up they got and started cooking; Labor that would test a saint. Hotter grew the days and kitchen.

Mrs. G. still hotter grew—Frying, roasting, boiling, baking For their relatives to chew. Thus three days she slaved and labored.

Then she sobbed her sorry plight "Mister G. you get some ser- vants"

"Else there'll be no eats tonight," Up spoke Joe, good Joe Padooka, "Cuz-in-law, it does seem strange "You, so modern in all matters, "Should not have an Electric Range."

"That is good, from you," cried G. "For "You don't pay the Electric bill." With a sly smile, big Joe prom- ised.

And he said, "By Gum, I will. "Get the wife the Range Elec- tric "So that health and youth she'll know."

"I the difference will pay for "From your bill one year ago." So G. bought the Range Electric. Now his wife cooks, cool and free.

To their glad surprise the bill showed Increase but one ninety-three.

Moral: Why waste strength and youth on Cooking in a kitchen hot? When for small upkeep and payments, Electric Ranges may be bought.
